Event Description:

This is a 24-hour Web and App Development hackathon. A day-to-day problem will be given to be solved by code at the start of the hackathon. Come with your best developers to crack the problem.

This is a part of an Inter IIT Tech Meet problem statement. Participants doing well in this event might get a chance to be part of the team participating in Inter IIT Tech Meet 2018 held in IIT Bombay.

Rules:

1. Communicating with others outside the event venue is not allowed. Any team caught doing so repeatedly after three warnings, will be disqualified from the event, with score reduction for the first three warnings.
2. Maximum members per team is 6. There can be a maximum of two B.Tech. 4th year or greater, M.Tech. 2nd Year or greater and PhD students combined. (Any hostels having a problem with this limit inform the event organizers beforehand.)
3. Ideas should be discussed with the mentors present at the event before implementing to avoid clashes and fatal flaws.
4. Any technologies can be used, but proper working apps ready for deployment are to be submitted. No prototypes are allowed for final submission.

Final Submission:

One or two GitHub repositories containing the Mobile and Web App should be submitted at the end of the event. Proper instructions to get the Apps running are to be mentioned in the ReadMe.MD file in the repository (not doing so will lead to score reduction)

Judging Criteria:

1. Novelty of the idea and implementation
2. Working of the apps
3. UI/UX of the apps
4. Proper setup instructions
5. Maintenance of list of present bugs with the apps (GitHub Issues can be used for this purpose)
6. Maintenance of GitHub repository with proper timely commits from all the team members
