
Interpersonal Communication

Dr. Nachiketa Tripathi
Professor (Psychology & Management)
Department of Humanities & Social Sciences,
Indian Institute of Technology Guwahati
Guwahati – 781 039 (Assam)

Communication is the key factor in transmitting thoughts and ideas to others, and success of communication depends on many factors, such as, understanding others' ego states, purpose, and the context in which communication is taking place. Of course, language is an inherent part of communication, but language alone doesn't guarantee the success of the communication.

This talk will focus on some aspects of interpersonal communication, including understanding self and others, using feedbacks as correction device, and transactional analysis.

Invited talk at the Department of Chemical Engineering, IIT Guwahati under the auspices of Indian Institute of Chemical Engineers \(IICChE\), Guwahati Regional Centre. August 23, 2017.
